Arnhem is a city in the east of Holland and located on the banks of the Rhine River and surrounded by beautiful forests and parks, such as the Sonsbeek Park and the Veluwe National Park.

Arnhem is also known because of The Battle of Arnhem. This was a major World War II battle fought in and around the city in September 1944. It was a key battle in Operation Market Garden, which was intended to end the war before Christmas 1944. The battle had a significant impact on the city and is remembered through various monuments, museums, and events.

Arnhem has a rich cultural and historical heritage. The city has many museums, such as the Netherlands Open Air Museum, the Airborne Museum, and the Museum Arnhem, which showcase the city's history and art.
